Speaker | Author | Trainer

Confidencebydesign.co.uk

In short, Kyle Murtagh is Scotland's most exciting public speaker.

In 2018, he founded 'Confidence by Design', an industry-leading presentation skills company that has helped people from all walks of life to transform their public speaking abilities - from global corporations to ambitious entrepreneurs.

His passion, hard work and talent have also led him to win multiple public speaking accolades, including becoming a European Champion in 2021. Not only that, but Kyle is now a successful author! His debut title "The 5 Pillars of Effective Public Speaking" has received 5-star reviews from readers across the globe, who have discovered how to unlock their public speaking potential to achieve tangible results.

But this only the beginning.

His next goal? To become the World Champion of Public Speaking. But most importantly, he wants to continue inspiring people like you to develop your public speaking confidence and to own your presentations like never before.
